

NO DYSPEPSIA OR ANY OTHER STOMACH DISTRESS.

Settles Your Out-of-Order Stomach and Ends All Indigestion in Five Minutes.

There would not be a case of indigestion here if readers who are subject to stomach trouble knew the tremendous anti-ferment and digestive virtue contained in Diapysin. This harmless preparation will digest a heavy meal without the slightest fuss or discomfort, and relieve the sourness of the stomach in five minutes, besides overcoming all foul, nauseous odors from the breath.

Ask your pharmacist to show you the formula, plainly printed on each 50-cent case of Diapysin, then you will readily understand why this promptly cures indigestion and removes such symptoms as heartburn, a feeling like a lump of lead in the stomach, belching of gas and eructations, undigested food, water brash, Nausea, Headache, Bileousness, and many other bad symptoms. Diapysin does not merely carry them along until old enough to leave school.

The effective children in the schools proves embarrassing at times, but until better arrangements for their care are made by the state, it seems impossible to do much better than merely to carry them along until old enough to leave school.

In the Bridge district a new schoolhouse will be needed soon and it seems poor economy to use the income of five thousand dollars for one room. Nevertheless the burden of the district have been heavy, and it would perhaps be wisest to allow them to work out their own salvation in that regard.

This year's improvements will assist the purpose for the present, but your board hopes they will not wait until building becomes too expensive before starting the project.

Many of the disadvantages of the present system would be overcome by consolidation, and the board is strongly in favor of the same.

Ungraded Schools.

The registration in the three ungraded schools—Scotland Road, Plain Hill and Wawucum Hill—has been about the same as for the preceding year. The defects and advantages of the ungraded system are as apparent as in former years, but your board, although they have considered the abandonment of the schools in those districts and the transportation of the children to graded schools, do not feel that the extra expense involved in the chance would be offset by the advantages gained thereby.

Plain Hill and Wawucum Hill, with a registration of 17 and 15, respectively, show more plainly the disadvantages of the large number of classes forced upon one teacher, sometimes with but one in class, although good results have been obtained despite that fact.

The Scotland Road school, with about 25 pupils, despite the painstaking efforts of Miss Northrup, has not progressed as rapidly as might have been expected. However, better results are looked for this year. In this district James McCarthy enters upon his duties as committee, and the successor to Miss Northrup, who is engaged elsewhere, will be Miss Grace M. Henderson, a teacher of several years' experience.

Graded Schools.

The teaching staff in the Bridge district has, on the whole, done excellent work this year. The coming year will find several changes in this district. Billings hall, the use of part of which is obtained by the district at a price which would be the interest of five thousand dollars, will be used for the first grade, furnishing a large, light and comfortable room on the ground floor.

This result has been accomplished by the zeal and energy of the committee, Henry Davis, and Principal Elmer, who, in conjunction with your acting school visitor, and aided by the generous support of the district, will inaugurate this fall a regrading of the school, rendered possible by the construction of a covered stairway from the principal's room on the second floor to the room in the ell vacated by the first grade. The scheme is similar to the departmental system used at Occum, and will result in a shorter course at the same time giving the principal more time for supervision.

In the East Great Plain district conditions remain the same. The schoolhouse has been repainted and put in good shape, and the grounds have been well cared for. The efforts of the committee, Charles S. Woodmansee, is one of the most pleasant sites in the town. The same capable teacher, Miss Margaret G. Lathrop and Miss Edith A. Lemingwell, will have charge of the school.

Unsatisfactory conditions at Long society made the work of the teachers hard last year. The principal, D. Alva Crandall, started a comprehensive system of regrading the two upper grades, of which the two were sadly in need, and it is unfortunate that he will not be on hand to obtain the hoped for results this year.

The large number of pupils in the three lower grades render a change of some sort necessary in the near future, if conditions remain the same. There is an unoccupied room in the school building and it would seem advisable that it be fitted for use and another teacher obtained if the overcrowding continues. There are some repairs needed, noticeably the walks and playground, and it is to be hoped these will be looked after this fall.

The new schoolhouse at Occum has been a source of inspiration to both teachers and pupils, as evidenced by the work of both. The building and grounds are capably cared for, and make one of the most cheerful schoolhouses in Norwich.

The committee, at the beginning of last year, asked for another teacher, on account of the number of pupils, and the request was granted by your board at their October meeting.

In the spring term of last year the work of the three upper rooms was carried on by the departmental system, teaching by subjects rather than by classes. The system proved successful and will no doubt be tried again this year.

At Yantic, arrangements were made the past year by which the children's playground was enlarged for part of the year. There should be, however, a permanent addition to the playing space. At this district, as at Long Society and the Bridge, Miss Aida Watrous has given satisfaction by her instruction in drawing. The work of the past year has been favorable.

The West Town street one improvement which should be made immediately is the addition of a stairway or staircases from the room occupied by the fifth and sixth grades to the ground. At present the only entrance is through the front room, occupied by the upper grades, which is not only lacking in convenience but would prove dangerous in case of fire or accident. The school needs a little touching up here and there and will undoubtedly be well looked after by its competent committee. The results obtained last year were highly satisfactory.

The West Town district showed a considerably decreased registration from that of the preceding year, owing to the reopening of the parochial school in Tataville. The reduced force of teachers thus employed were highly efficient, and under the capable superintendence of Principal F. J. Werking the year has been one of marked advance. The grounds and buildings have been kept in fine condition and all necessary improvements and alterations made.

Some difficulty was experienced in this district during the year by the employment of children under sixteen in manufacturing establishments contrary to the provisions of your board, which requires the child to complete sixth grade work before such employment. The manufacturers were, however, entirely exonerated from any fault in the matter, as all of the children so employed had filed age certificates as required. The town laws in this regard take precedence over the state requirements, which merely set a minimum and the occurrence is a

BOARD IN FAVOR OF CONSOLIDATION

Statement of Acting School Visitor In His Annual Report Improvements Last Year and More Expected This.

Acting School Visitor Frank H. Foss has made his annual report to the selectmen, giving an account of the condition of the town school. He recommended to the selectmen that rigid adherence to the statutes relative to school matters, copies of which are easily obtained, and would especially request that advantage be taken of the school library appropriation allowed by the state.

The effective children in the schools proves embarrassing at times, but until better arrangements for their care are made by the state, it seems impossible to do much better than merely to carry them along until old enough to leave school.

HEALTH OFFICER MAKES REPORT FOR YEAR.

Contagious Diseases in Town Have Been Quite Prevalent.

Dr. George Thompson, health officer of the town of Norwich, has made his report to the selectmen for the year ending September 1, in which he says:

Like the preceding year, contagious diseases have been quite prevalent, owing, perhaps, to the excessively dry season we have had.

Diphtheria.—Of this disease 14 cases were reported, a much larger number than in any recent year. 11 of the 14 occurred in the town of Norwich. The peculiar feature of these cases was the large percentage of the croupous form of the disease, which is fatal to life before the era of antitoxin, that the patient rarely recovered; five of these nine cases were of this type, with but one fatality. Of the three remaining cases, occurring in other parts of the town, one was in East Great Plain, one in Occum, and one in Norwich.

Scarlatina.—As in the epidemic of scarlatina last year, it seems to be the special point of attack, nine cases being reported, and all in Taftville and its vicinity. In these few cases were reported, none of which was the malignant form of this disease, all four resulting fatally, two of which were in one family and the other two in another family. All four of these cases received prompt and careful attention, but while the other five cases were of mild form these four illustrated the danger of contracting the disease, reduced the number attending school to such an extent that it seemed advisable to close the school until the worst of it was past.

Measles.—Eleven cases of measles were reported, nine of which occurred among the school children of East Great Plain. The sudden onset of this number and the detention of others, for fear of contracting the disease, reduced the number attending school to such an extent that it seemed advisable to close the school until the worst of it was past.

Tuberculosis.—There were five cases of tuberculosis reported, with four deaths from the disease. In all cases where death occurred from the disease the place of residence was thoroughly disinfected, as required by law. I attach great importance to this procedure, for while it is possible to contract this disease outside, yet in my opinion tuberculosis is primarily a house disease, and especially so where there is lack of fresh air and sunshine. While every physician is required to report every case of this disease to the health officer, I don't think they all understand that it is also their duty, and it is required by law, to report or vaccination of premises for any other cause to the local health officer. Within 24 hours, the failure to do this defeats the most important provision of the law relative to this disease.

garding these cases and would not be regarded lightly by the county and state officials. I earnestly solicit the co-operation of all undertakers in this section in reporting and deaths from this cause.

Typhoid fever.—Only two cases have been reported, which I consider remarkable, considering the diverse sources of the drinking water which has been used during the past year.

Nuisances.—I have investigated six nuisances reported during the past year, and have found generally a desire to conform to all the requirements of the law when attention was called to bad conditions.

Schoolhouses.—The school properties of the town are as a whole well kept and the houses are thoroughly renovated every fall before the beginning of the school year. The installation of lavatories in the West Town Street schoolhouse was a much needed improvement, and one that cannot but help the sanitary conditions of the property greatly.

School improvements are under construction in the second school building of the West Town district, having been installed in No. 1 building last year.

PROMPT HAT-BUYING

A Feature of Wednesday's Openings—Some of the Favored Models Shown—Latest in Shapes and Trimmings.

In spite of midsummer temperature, crowds attended the showing of fall hats on Wednesday, and there was prompt buying by those who are quick to improve the opportunity to secure the earliest, exclusive models.

Among the dainty and smart offerings noted was a handsome shape in rough white beaver, its sole and striking ornament a yellow velvet tulle with effective leaves and buds.

Coronation velvet was employed in building a coronation shape, one of the newest favorites, its trimmings a wreath of fuschias, gold pendants, and staid velvet loops.

Particularly elegant was a long turban in black velvet, banded with jet fringe, at the back a superb shower of feathers in glossy black.

A Grecian turban of draped uncut velvet in burnt brown shades, was trimmed very smartly with rich gold fringe.

Conspicuously new and novel was a beautiful Mexican hat, rich applique flowers on the bronze velvet of crown and brim contrasting with the black velvet facing of its four turned-back points. The trimming was a big black ostrich pompon.

Amethyst, pamine velvet formed the foundation of a mushroom model, the draped crown being developed in silken, to repeat or ostrich applique effect, and a handsome Bulgarian ornament completed the trimming.

"The Spring Maid" was a dainty design entirely of white silk fringe, with black velvet facing, and big black velvet bow across the back.

Lively admiration was excited by a flat back velvet shell, set on a bandeau, giving it the Louis Quinze touch, the turned-up portion being draped with soft maline. A shower of aigrette in delicate rose pink formed the trimmings.

All advance season styles, and there are others equally charming. Where they may be seen is indicated by today's millinery advertisements in The Bulletin.

UNIVERSALIST CONVENTION.

Rev. and Mrs. J. F. Cobb Are Named on Committees.

The seventy-ninth annual session of the Connecticut Universalist convention opened Wednesday in All Souls' Universalist-Unitarian church, a large number of delegates being present. The first hour was devoted to the business session, when committees were appointed.

Rev. J. F. Cobb was named on the committee on elections, being made chairman, and Mrs. Cobb was made a member of the committee on official reports.

Communion followed the business meeting. At the close of the service, dinner was served in the church dining rooms.

The convention reconvened at 1:30. Robert Hunter, socialist candidate for governor at the last state election, addressed the convention Wednesday night.

At the missionary society convention Tuesday, Mrs. Cobb presided as president and read a report.

NORWICH PEOPLE TO ATTEND.

Grand Masters' Day Will Be Observed at Masonic Home.

Justin Holden, a member of the grand lodge, F. and A. M., and Mrs. Holden, with others from this city, will go to Wallingford Saturday to attend the Grand Masters' day observance at the Masonic home.

The majority of the visitors from the various lodges and Eastern Star chapters will arrive about 8:30 and the time until 11:30 will be spent in an inspection of the buildings. At 11:30 there will be a banquet lunch for those who have brought them and for those who go empty handed. Mizpah chapter O. E. S., will be prepared to serve a luncheon at a small price. Supt. John O. Rowland will furnish an abundance of coffee. The exercises will begin at 12:30 with the opening concert by the Beeman & Hatch orchestra.

The reception committee will be the best of managers of the home and the district deputies of the nine Masonic districts.

Meriden.—John G. Nard, assistant treasurer of the Meriden Savings bank, has gone to Richmond, Va., on a business trip.
